

SPARKLING / CHAMPAGNE – IMPORTED

“Brut” = dry and off-dry, less than 1.5% residual sugar; “Extra Sec” or “Extra Dry” = slightly sweet, 1.2%-2% residual sugar. “Sec” = semi-sweet, although the word itself means dry, 1.7%-3.5% residual sugar. Demi-Sec = sweet 3.3%-5% residual sugar, a dessert wine. Doux = very sweet, more than 5% residual sugar, a dessert wine. “Blanc de Blancs” = made from Chardonnay and/or Pinot Meunier grapes. “Blanc de Noirs” = made from Pinot Noir grapes. “Dry” prosecco is sweet or slightly sweet. “Champagne” = wine made in the designated area of Champagne, France. French law prohibits the use of the word “Champagne” anywhere else that French law is recognized (all major producers except the US respect this distinction). “Spumante” and “Prosecco” = sparkling wine made in Italy. “Sekt” = sparkling wine made in Germany. “Vin Mousseux” = sparkling wine made in France outside of the Champagne area, not necessarily by the Methode Champenoise. “Cremant” = sparkling wine made in France outside the Champagne area by Methode Champenoise.
